

Gympass Plus, the marketplace exclusive for Gympass partners, is launching several initiatives to support gyms and studios during this difficult time. We are now offering you a way to LIVE stream your workouts and get paid for each Gympass user that books your class.

We have created an integration with Glofox, which will enable Gympass users to sign up for virtual workouts on the Gympass Site or App. In order for them to book and attend your online classes, you will need to live stream, through a streaming platform of your choosing.

How it works (click here to see the video):

- You will need to fill out this form so Glofox can create an account for you on their platform;
- Once you have entered all of your information, Glofox will set up your profile and get back to you in a few days with directions on how to schedule your classes;
- When everything is registered in the Glofox system, Gympass users will be able to book your classes through the Gympass Site or App;
- They will receive a generic Glofox link that will automatically redirect to the platform of your choosing once the class starts;
- You will be paid per Gympass user that books and attends your online class.

Some of the benefits include:

- FREE for Gympass gym and studio partners until July 31st*;
- Streaming classes to ALL of your users -- however, you will only get paid per Gympass user;
- Working with any streaming platform* (e.g. Zoom, Youtube Live, Facebook Live, etc.);
- All you need to get started is a computer or a phone with a camera;
- No current Glofox account required;
- Extending your reach and getting additional revenue from Gympass users all over the country;
- Retention and engagement of users;
- Keeping trainers employed during this difficult time.

There is no commitment for Glofox required after July 31st. However, if you would like to continue using the service, Gympass will offer discounts starting at 50% off the market price.*
